Abductors in Nigeria want to swap Pinoys for 2 prisoners

By Vito Conrera

NOT JUST SIX BUT 24 Filipino seafarers were snatched on Saturday by a militant group operating in an oil-rich region in Nigeria, the Department of Foreign Affairs disclosed yesterday.

Of the 24 Filipinos, 17 were dragged to a village in Warri in Nigeria's Delta State, while the other seven were held aboard East German-owned cargo ship as hostages, according to Inter-fax. Captains J.C. Aragon and senior crew member for migrant workers offices.

The "24-Filipino" captives included three captains. They prisoners were rescued the first time their shipping company, Blue Line, was attacked by Nigerian militants in its 30 years of plying the route, Conrera said.

The incident, which the DFA said was the fifth time Filipino seafarers were kidnapped in the area since last year, prompted President Macapagal-Arroyo on Monday to suspend labor deployment to Nigeria.

Conrera declined to give other details, including the identity of the Filipinos, citing the "sensitivity" of ongoing negotiations.

The abduction, members of the so-called Movement for the Emancipation of the Niger Delta (MEND), have not asked the rescue and have kept their earlier "political demands," Conrera said in a briefing.

MEND has reportedly demanded the release of two prisoners charged with treason in exchange for the Filipinos' freedom.

CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE HEROIC KIND: This is where the bullets from the jihadist camp got Jed Li. Renato Disayag (Ph. Jovelyn Masadil) shows broadcaster Mike Enriquez during his radio program on DRR on Tuesday, last Sept. 4, the Marine reconnaissance platoon was only five meters away from jihadist and his men in Padilal, Sulu. Disayag as platoon leader decided to attack. Six of his men, like himself, and their first aid segments, were killed. 16 were wounded.

Battle was won by 27 Marines vs 200 Abus

By Dena Paz-Ingles

THEY NUMBERED ONLY A LITTLE over two dozen, most of them were already dead and most of the rest were wounded. About 200 Abu Sayyid fighters were closing in on them.

But the young Marines were united by one resolve: There would be no retreat, they would go down together.

"I looked in my side, one of my men was dead. On my other side, one was wounded, he didn't see anyone but I was pushing from his arm," said Li. Renato Disayag said yesterday, revealing the battle in Sulu last Sept. 4, in which his men killed 200 Abu

Sayyid leader Hashim Aljamil.
"But (our) will to fight was unmovable. Every thought we had was 'they're here,' the platoon leader of the 27-man elite Marine Force Reconnaissance Class 12 said yesterday.

Despite the overwhelming force his platoon faced, Disayag said he and his men never considered retreating.

"We held the line, we could not retreat because we were going to lose, more behind. I will not know any Marine's belief," he said.

"We agreed that whatever happened, it was going to end here, we'd go down together."

EU assails unabated killing of activists

By Michael Lin Usher

THE EUROPEAN UNION RESolutely assailed the unabated killing of political activists in the Philippines and called on the Ma-cay administration to put a stop to the attacks that have claimed hundreds of lives.

German Ambassador Axel
Weinberg said all EU member "deplore" the killings and the future rights abuses being reported in the Philippines.

"We really hope that measures are taken to bring it to an end and we hope that it will stop one day because it's bad for the reputation of this country," Weinberg said in response to a question in an open forum at the Manila Hotel in Makati City.

He also expressed hope that the Moro Commission formed by President Macapagal-Arroyo to look into the killings would "come to a satisfying conclusion."

Germany currently holds the six-month rotating presidency of the 27-member European Union.

It was not the first time that the European Union had expressed displeasure at the continued killings.
In November last year, the EU representative in the Philippines said that wherever the number of the deadly attacks, what was significant was that there had not been a respite.

The human rights organization
Human Rights Watch (HRW) reported 828 killings of political activists since 1995, saying armed power in 2003. [The human rights watch said at about 200.] Of those killed, 125 were leaders and members of the latter party.

SC reverses Ombudsman, orders graft raps vs Disini

By Armand N. Ilocos

OVERTURNING A DECISION OF former Ombudsman Antonio Disini, the Supreme Court has ordered the Office of the Ombudsman to proceed with the filing of graft charges against Marce-lino Hernandez Disini and seven others.

In a 10-page decision, the high court granted the appeal of the Presidential Commission on Good Government (PCGG) to reinstate the criminal complaint against Disini, his brother Jesus, and six of his affiliates of the Disini-owned Hernandez Group of Companies, including board director Angelo Mendoza, Disini's brother, and his brother-in-law, Disini.

In the decision, penned by Assistant Justice Adolfo Azarov, the tribunal reversed the May 2, 2007, decision of Disini.

The Supreme Court said the Office of the Ombudsman continued to ignore the evidence when it ordered the dismissal of the complaint filed by PCGG against Disini et al. "the lack of legal basis and lack of basis."

The case stemmed from a March 11, 1992, complaint that alleged that Disini, a personal friend and political partner of Ma-cay, gave the latter shares of Ma-cay Industrial and Mining Corp.
(NIMCO) and The Energy Corp.
(TEC) worth P40 million and P25 million, respectively.

Palace: Case vs govts, mayors out of our hands

By Ed Calacagan

MALACANAP, PHILIPPINES — The dismissal and suspension of governors and mayors were out of the hands of the Palace, it was only carrying out the wishes of the Office of the President.

Executive Secretary Eduardo Arce said all the Palace could promise local government officials was that it would study thoroughly the Constitutional issues before implementing them.

Palace said the government would look into the election case to determine whether the demand and suspension of local government officials could be carried out during the campaign season.

The Constitutional demand that such cases against local officials could still be carried out during the election season.

'Hand of steel' of state terrorism

By Michael J. Hart
A LATE AFTER POLICE COMMANDERS STORMED the Manila Police Department's main office Jan. 24, President Gloria Arroyo's cabinet ordered the Marines for the slaying of Arroyo's brother-in-law, Senator Benigno Aquino III.

The arrest was the first of the kind, the police were unleashed the "hand of steel" of the state. The police were ordered to arrest Arroyo's brother-in-law, Senator Benigno Aquino III, and to arrest his wife, Corason Aquino.

By the end of the President's term and discredited by the intensely high tide of retributive killings of suspected rebels and politicians. The TV coverage of the 2001 raid really proved the severity of mass government violence and the breakdown of the rule of law. The image of the police and the military was shattered when they were seen attacking and killing innocent civilians.

THIS LETTER IS IN CONNECTION with the recent news story "Two from remnant govt say 'Alyor' (PH, 1/11/07)." The government said that poverty would be the main cause to allow us the state of Typhoon Reming. The governor of the province added that the government will take the necessary steps to rehabilitate the victims.

As of the President Information and Justice, Reming's Philippines (PH), an international human rights organization advocates the right to food, because this is fundamental to the existence of man as the victims of disaster. But, more than food, the government should also provide the victims with the necessary medical care, as well as the necessary financial aid.

We agree that the government, as a signatory to the International Convention on the Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, should fulfill its obligation to protect the right of the people of the Philippines to food and help them to enjoy this right.

But let us focus on the relief goods distributed in Alyor since they are enough for the victims. But let us focus on the relief goods distributed in Alyor since they are enough for the victims. But let us focus on the relief goods distributed in Alyor since they are enough for the victims.

The charges were in the name of libel, as resulting from the complaint.

The stock certificates covering the transactions involving the disbursement of money to Malabon after various fund sale calls in January-February 1986.

Evidence disregarded

In its previous decision, the PCGG, however, said that the Ombudsman had disregarded other evidence presented to support the graft charges.

The PCGG said the anti-graft body acted in violation of its mandate by not considering fully a letter from Disini dated March 13, 1982, stating that the shares of VMC and TSC, subsidiaries of Disini Group, were owned and sold to him in Manila.

The Supreme Court noted that Disini's appeal of the Ombudsman's decision was supported by independent Malabon as well as the VMC and TSC stock certificates based in Malabon after various fund sale calls.

Manila-based Disini's affidavit, which was based on personal knowledge, having held important positions in Disini Group, the PCGG said.

"In view of the material facts of primary importance in this case, we have very well the lawyer's handwriting and signature. Since, private respondents could not supply legal assistance of the documents, please, because all of them appear to have approved it," the PCGG said.

"Thus, the Supreme Court noted that Disini's 'has ignored said evidence' in determining the case against Disini."

Disini with his sons of Disini and former partners in the Disini Group's disbursement.

In June 1986, Disini transferred a small amount of money to manufacturing plant, into a confidential source of 33 companies with assets totaling about $200 million. Total assets reported is 1.5%.

The actual amount transferred, said the Disini Group reached its peak with total assets of $200 million.

Pacquiao gets Comelec ...

Manila/31

"I approved them myself." You can read from the paper what he said.

Commissioner Theodore Tirona, who is in charge of Comelec's public relations, said yesterday.

After said that Tirona himself needed to prove himself and his family as well as the public he had accumulated from his office.

Having a "high profile" person in and "being in a troubled area" are requirements for the Comelec to approve all the 28 applications filed by Tirona, Tirona said.

Other personalities

The anti-graft group would presumably be created by Tirona and the individuals who accompany him and members of his family during his term, it is mentioned in their many letters.

The Comelec has imposed a nine-month ban on its members to avoid and local elections in May.

Tirona said that Tirona applied for the commission during his last visit to Manila on Friday.

During that visit, Tirona met his one-time partner, Governor Carlos B. Reyes (R), and approved in the public to support the agency during the election period.

Tirona said other personalities had already sought exemption from the ban but he refused to allow them, citing security and political reasons.

17,800 applications

As of yesterday, Tirona said the Comelec had received about 17,800 applications for exemption, since 1,000 of which had been approved, mostly by politicians and military personnel.

Between 700 and 1,000 applications have been rejected, he said.

The applications included about 1,000 petitions.

Tirona said there was no need for applicants to be physically present when submitting their documents as long as they complied with the documentary requirements and accomplished their forms properly.

Mayor's son approved

He said two representatives from the Philippine National Police and the Armed Forces were helping him coordinate the applications.

Only those with confirmed or justified "high-risk" security status will be given exemption, he said.

Tirona said a son of a former Mayor in Manila was refused an exemption because the only justification to grant him was that he was a "vulnerable."

See on contract farmers

A big block of San Miguel shares and other assets are acquired with funds from the fact that the law firm Ferdinand Marcos imposed on contract farmers between 1970 and 1982.

The General Insurance Insurance Fund (GIF), a group of 14 holding companies owned by six old mills that held the assets acquired by the law firm and its assets with the use of the six old mills, said, was acquired by the PCGG in 1986.

After the Supreme Court ruled in 1981 that the six old mills were public funds held by government in trust for the country's economic recovery, control of the GIF and the 14 companies held by San Miguel shareholders to the PCGG.

But until the decision became final, the assets remain under liquidation.

The ownership of another 20 percent block of San Miguel shares, controlled by Cebuano, is still under dispute.

Blood demand bleeds Red Cross dry

DIWAO CITY—THE PHILIPPINE NATIONAL RED CROSS (PNRC) here said it can hardly cope with demand for blood after commercial blood banks were ordered to stop operations on Dec. 31.

The Department of Health (DOH) has shut down commercial blood banks because of fears of diseases being transmitted through contaminated blood.

Infila (Philippine), PNRC chapter administrator, and the DOH have established blood banks in the city but it has not been opening because of lack of funding support.

She said this has made the Red Cross blood bank the only source of blood supply here.

Manalang said there are now waiting about 100 donors a day to donate the number of blood bottles needed for blood donors who are being screened for HIV and hepatitis.

Manalang said the problem here is that with the lack of a single donor blood center, the PNRC is really getting into a tight spot. The PNRC is also facing a problem with the lack of a single donor blood center.

Will super region strategy get Filipinos out of poverty?

By Teodoro Ordoñez
Clark Special Economic Zone

The government unveiled an audacious strategy to lift the Clark Special Economic Zone out of poverty and projected these messages—it has the will and resources to win the war on hunger; the Asian Urban League (AUL) is the super region that will facilitate the economic take-off; and this strategy will get millions of Filipinos out of poverty.

FARMER JERVIS LIM CAME out of the summer impoverished but still cynical.

"It's a good program, but it has yet to be fully implemented," he said. "It's still a long way off. I'm still a farmer, but I'm not a rich farmer. I still have to work hard to make a living." He said that the government's strategy to lift the Clark Special Economic Zone out of poverty is a good one, but it has yet to be fully implemented.

In stating that property would be sold, Fernandez said that the government is not a good negotiator. "Confidence in the economy," the President said, was "lacked by the many of the people, spirit of enterprise and the lack of a good negotiation."

"Will it really work out?" asked Lim, chair of the Association of Chairpersons of Agrarian Reform Communities in Bulacan.

He agreed with his fellow on one point: The best measure of success is "when we see good living improves."

It also means that those who have very little money to survive on. The farmers, who have the resources to live in life.

In the agrarian reform program, he said, the government has been successful in getting the farmers to live in life.

Not now, but he said, "not a one-day thing."

Lim said several agencies composed the task force by continuously changing areas in their efforts.

Now, he said, the government is in this time, he suggested an approach to eliminate poverty. "I hope our officials would do this in a way that is not just a one-day thing."

Modesto leader Don Amador-Garcia said, "I hope our officials would do this in a way that is not just a one-day thing."

"Will the good things I heard here really end up in the hands of the people?" he said. "I hope our officials would do this in a way that is not just a one-day thing."

government in Iragueta. He had not been able to get the loan for the house, which is the reason why he is still in the slum.

"The problem with the government's housing program is that it is not based on the capacity of poor families to pay," he said. It is when the government is not based on the capacity of poor families to pay.

Something for health, he said, the government's housing program is not based on the capacity of poor families to pay.

What is needed now is for the government to be transparent and to allow monitoring of its implementation, especially health programs, he said.

"On the ground, some supposedly regular programs, like health services, are not held on the frequency they were scheduled. Instead of every quarter, it is done once or twice a year because of lack of budget," he said.

Working under a specific program is in priority, he said, but he said that the government is not based on the capacity of poor families to pay.

PHILIPPINE BOWLING IS PICKING UP momentum, slowly but surely.

New tennis generation play game of 'Chasing Roger'

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA—AT 30, 32, 34, Roger Federer is clearly the player that every up-and-coming tennis player wants to chase—or learn to become.

The Swiss star is on track for a third Grand Slam title after triumphing against new rivals who are chasing him in a world No. 1, after losing just six of 87 matches worldwide in 12 titles last year.

But of those he came out in emerging talents Rafael Nadal, Andy Murray, and the others to become Andy Murray—new rivals, but a half of young pros who are just a generation behind him in terms of success.

These kids, Murray is the one in the front row on Monday, and will play Federer for the first time in the quarterfinals. In addition, to emerging French Open winner Nadal and Murray, the group includes France's Richard Gasquet and Gael Monfils, and the Italian's Flavia Pennetta.

But, it is the others at 20, with the first just 17, who will all dominate. Where was the challenge?

"I have been dangerous young players," Federer said.

He believed Federer had the advantage to the professionals, and he wanted to know what it was about a message to his young players.

"Well, I could have called him, or sent him by mail," Federer said, winking the message to his young players.

"I think I'm only 22. And I know what I'm doing."

Federer was a Grand Slam winner—winning all four majors last year by Nadal at Roland Garros, for Federer the first year after his last. Later, he won the Australian Open in 2005 to make his first in all four majors in a single season.

He already has enough titles to make him a legend, but he's still a young player.

He's been chasing Federer's record of 140 consecutive weeks at No. 1.

But he said he had to be successful with the pressure of being No. 1.

"You know they always have a chance on the day," he said.

A chance, yes, but a challenge, no. Murray said he's already looking forward to a career where he's chasing Federer, or at least trying to be the best of them, and he's still a young player.

Foreign investors turn bullish on RP

See stronger peso, high economic growth in '07

By Samuel W. Domingos and Doris C. Domingos

FOREIGN INVESTORS DOING BUSINESS HERE ARE TURNING MORE BULLISH ON THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMIC PROSPECTS THIS YEAR AND BEYOND.

The world's largest financial conglomerate Citigroup expects positive economic picking up in the Philippines after the May elections, signaling a growth domestic product (GDP) growth of 5.7 percent this year.

According to Citic in Manila, Citigroup head of research communications for investment business, an investment-led growth will contribute to an improvement in local demand and the medium-term stable demand for raw material property will also with the declining cost of foreign lending.

Citigroup also saw inflation rising to 4.7 percent, as within the government's target range of 4-5 percent for the year.

Bank of China, another economist at Citic's London-based global economics unit, added that the overall economic sentiment in the country would remain very favorable and supportive of more capital flows.

It also predicted that growth in gross domestic product would pick up to at least 5 percent this year and that inflation would rise further in line with the government's expectation of a 4.5 percent range.

He said confidence before the election would remain robust, growth in bank lending would continue to improve and the overall economic recovery was well placed to grow at a faster pace than last year.

Citic sees the peso picking up to the 47-51 level in the next three months before heading back to 49-51 over a 12-month period once the Bangko Sentral mass cutting interest rates to improve the currency value appreciates.

"I think the policy improvement in local well-matched and fiscal improvement should continue," Citic said, adding that there would not be any serious fiscal discipline likely to arise from the May elections.

"Foreign investor confidence has improved and will continue to improve and the overall policy seems to be managing currency policy very well," he said.

An umbrella group of foreign business chambers yesterday noted that the Philippines could attract up to $9 billion in investments a year if more reforms were implemented and sustained.

According to the Asia Pacific Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines, this potential was evident with the 71-

PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER

Budget gap seen at a low P39B

By Michelle K. Narva

DEAN STRANDBERG & CO. INC. HAS ESTIMATED THAT THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT WOULD RECORD IMPROVEMENTS IN ITS FISCAL CONDITION, WITH THE BUDGET DEFICIT SUBSTANTIALLY DROPPING TO ONLY P39 BILLION THIS YEAR.

"This outcome should be positive for the Philippine sovereign bonds," Dean Stranberg said in its latest assessment of the Philippine economy.

Spreads on loans $1 billion at global bonds issued by the government were much tighter and the securities were oversubscribed by nine times and market optimism on the country's fiscal condition.

The US-based investment bank based in Manila has an average view that the government's revenue collection would improve.

How lower credit the P34 billion tax collection target assigned by the national government to the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the P32B target in 2007 and 2008 assigned to the Bureau of Customs for 2007.

Taking into account that the government's 2006 revenue collection for the year would reach P140 billion, then total revenue including taxes, duties and non-tax income such as proceeds from privatization, would reach P174 billion.

Flip-flopping

By page 10

It doesn't hurt that they're cute, too—character comes in all colors you can possibly imagine, ranging from bright, sunny to cool like lemons. Some are embellished with flowers, while others come in common designs.

Because of this, flip-flops have become fashionable footwear for longer. Limited to the house or the beach, they can be worn in the mall, grocery store, restaurant and even some hotels.

While there are a few understandably silly novelty combinations that don't show flip-flop models, you can rest assured knowing that your flip-flops will take you almost anywhere you want to—convenient and comfy.

OUR RECORDS, WORLD RECORDS are never-ending. In the last three years alone, for example, at least 20 large-scale recordable world records have been made by Filipinos.

From the country that gave birth to the woman with the world's biggest shoe collection also came the biggest pair of shoes in the world.

Designed in the country's shoe capital, Marikina City, the 12 million pairs of outdoor leather wingtip measures 34.2 feet long and 7.6 feet wide each, built by 15 marikina shoe-makers from the city, the shoe cost approximately $200,000.

Filipino examples are world records to find how very close-oriented we are to a people. Worried about the mounting condition of the environment, thousands of Filipinos planted 500,000 seedlings all over the country to make the Philippines a greener and set a new record for the longest tree-planting campaign in the world.

When 5,736 Filipinos entered on a new record for the world's largest beach-bending gathering on May 4, 2006, the nation also took a record against infant consumption.

Filipinos also made a self against pregnancy when 500,000 dogs gathered in different spots in the country's setting a new record for largest canine assembly in the world.

Aside from breaking world records, setting its own ones of the Filipino great out-achievements. Combining this with record-breaking numbers, Filipinos set records for the longest barbecue grill (2 feet long), biggest street-viewer (made from 2,000 kilos of machinery), longest bus (175-feet-long) and largest size cake (which weighed 2,500 kilos) in the world.

Filipinos have never been thought of as the most health conscious of people, but this is apparently changing.

On Feb. 10, 2005, 49,195 Filipinos jumped on Larena Park in their cities and entered to establish a new record in the "Target America Division" category and made us getting the "Axe of steel" from Florida's wrestling event in the US.

Longest kiss

Filipinos are thought to be among the most romantic people in the world, and this was proven when, in 2004, at an event dubbed "Classy Love-Philippines," 5,207 Filipino couples locked lips for 10 seconds and broke the Guinness World Record previously held by Chile for the most number of couples kissing simultaneously.

Unfortunately, Buzogin's topped the list. After knowing the Filipinos had a sufficient time to kiss, he said he would kiss more than 5,000 couples.

Not one to be cheated, Filipinos will attempt to beat the World Record again.

On Feb. 20, thousands of Filipino couples will convene at SM Mall of Asia for "Classy Love-Philippines 2007," in place in the world, that when it comes in the romance department, no one tops Filipinos.

"Classy," which also won an award for the world's best photo magazine last 2005, and is a testament to giving Filipinos the biggest Valentine celebration of the year with Classy competitors.

The same, Filipino's winning shows, one with world records reflects their desire for romance recognition. But the most Filipino, the world record is the one that's most romantic and proud.

As Fred Rodriguez, social manager of Classy, said, "Filipino pride is at stake here, being able to regain the record would mean the message that Filipinos don't take defeat lying down and we fight to keep our victory. But more important, it shows the world that with a little will and hard work, Filipinos can achieve whatever they want."

SHOOTING PITCH OF BACKSTBALL
history was made when underhanded, softball and lopsided slammers got out for one night of love, in celebration of the 25th year of the iconic Nike Air Max 1.

For this 25th anniversary, Nike honors those who made the difference when it is and continues to define it, and they all come together in respect for the legacy that defined basketball and great culture.

Master top 100 360iStock give a 25 year music retrospective to mark the 10 year legacy of the 40 Years 1.

Making of an icon

In 1982, basketball needed more than another page in the book of history. It needed a new chapter in the epic of the game itself. Basketball needed the kind of revolution that occurs when innovation and vision collide with like others ever created. It was the first performance basketball shoe to incorporate like his outstanding technology and style in design, the Air Max 1 has become a shoe that epitomized what the spirit of basketball means to those who love it. It has become an integral part of the culture that surrounds the game—an innovative performance product and a cultural icon.

Enthusiasm and interest by the football community for Air Force 1 made an impact that was felt very broadly in hand, foot and groin. The throw was created for basketball. It was adopted by the football community and then progressed into a culture.

In celebration of the Air Force 1, 1991 will see the introduction of a new innovative performance basketball shoe, the Air Force 23. The Air Force 23 will be worn by some of the new generation of great players. Built upon the same comfort, soundness and informed design principles as the Air Force 1, the Air Force 23 delivers revolutionary new worlds to the Air Force player.

Moreover, the French experience can be seen at the Nike Air Force Space at the Musée d'Art et d'Histoire (MAH), The Air Force City, where a collection of unique models of Air Force 1s will be on display from key collections. The space will also be a hub of information for the 20 years of the Force.

Drops of Life

REPLENISH WITH EVERY DROP

Proper hydration means getting the right amount of liquids into our bodies. It is an important aspect of our health, as we simply cannot function properly without consistently replenishing lost fluids. In normal conditions, thirst is our guide to know when it's time to hydrate. However, what our bodies can't tell us is what beverages to drink.

REFRESH YOUR BODY WITH EVERY DROP OF COKE

Recent health studies have shown that all beverages hydrate the body, so it is more a matter of quantity than a specific drink. "If you're thirsty, you need more liquid," says Dr. Sirtori. "And what can be more hydrating than a nice-cold Coca-Cola?" Always keep a thermos with your water handy close at your side, your car or your bag, for a quick refresh. Our bodies absorb all the water it takes from whatever we drink, which means that it naturally makes every drop of Coke a valuable contribution to proper hydration.

MAKE EVERY DROP COUNT

Make sure that everything you eat and drink boosts your health. Because when it comes to hydration, your body makes every drop count. Grab a Coke and raise a toast to a hydrated body. We at The Coca-Cola Company love to provide you with every product that will satisfy your different and changing hydration needs. We understand that you make every drop of your efforts count, and our role is to keep you enabled in meeting your desires. We make every drop count for you.

HYDRATION IS NOT ALWAYS SPELLED H-2-O

Keeping the body hydrated is key to good health. People are that right to believe glasses of water a day would do the trick. That's a lot of sipping, and sometimes, we do too much. The good news is, according to Healthline.com, water is not the only source of hydrators. Yes, even ketchup has 100% GLE to hydrate you. How can you make up your appetite of food by sipping a bottle of GLE? It's made up of water with all the best stuff you know that stretches both body and soul. That's right, hydration can be spelled as C-G-A-E. Get more than just GLE. Drink up.
